'Bedford Park'

Local History

Bedford Park, long considered a prototype for later garden cities and suburbs, owes its origin to the Aesthetic Movement of the 1870's.

In 1875 Jonathan Carr purchased 24 acres of land and commissioned E.W.Godwin and Coe & Robinson to build Phase I (1875-1876)

In 1877 Norman Shaw was commissioned as the estate architect and created most of the architectural character that we appreciate today. Phase II (1877-1879)

In 1880 more land was purchased by Carr. Shaw's protégé E.J.May completed Phase III (1880-1886)
